

Policy for History

Introduction

- This document is a statement of the aims, principles and strategies for teaching and learning History at Skelton Junior School.
- It was developed during the summer of 2001 through a process of consultation with the Humanities working party

What is History?

- History is about people and important events and developments from recent and more distant times in the locality, in Britain and in other parts of the world.

Aims

Our aims in teaching History are that it will

- Develop children's sense of identity through learning about the development of Britain, Europe and the world.
- Introduce children to what is involved in understanding and interpreting the past.

National Curriculum

- History is a foundation subject in the National Curriculum. The fundamental knowledge and concepts of the subject are set out in the National Curriculum where they are categorised into 13 programmes of study.

Strategies for the teaching of History

- The mode of working is a mixture of class teaching, individual work and cooperative group work.
- Relevant discussion is encouraged.
- There is no specialist teaching in History, it is taught by class teachers.
- Classroom assistants are used to help when available.
- Schemes of work are broadly based on the QCA scheme.
- Excellence in History is celebrated in display.

Pupils with special needs

- Pupils with difficulties in learning are given differentiated work when appropriate.
- Pupil's with a particular flair and ability for History are given the opportunity to extend their knowledge and skills.

Strategies for ensuring Progress and Continuity

- The foundation for curricular planning is developed through a process of collaboration between staff, and approved by governors.
- Schemes of work are developed by the working party using QCA guidelines and adapted for the needs of the school.
- Work plans are drawn up by year group teams for each half term and monitored by the humanities team.

The role of the working party for Humanities is to

- Take the lead in policy development and the production of schemes of work designed to ensure progression and continuity in History throughout the school.
- Monitor progress by developing a portfolio of work.
- Support colleagues in their development of work plans and implementation of the scheme of the work and in assessment and record keeping activities.
- Take responsibility for the purchase and organisation of central resources for History.

Strategies for recording and reporting

- Topics studied within each year group are recorded on assessment sheets which will indicate each child's understanding of the work covered.
- Children's performance is reported to parents termly at consultation evenings and annually through a written report.

Information Technology

- Information technology is an important resource to enhance children's learning of History.

Health and Safety issues

- Risk assessments must be undertaken by staff prior to any visits outside the classroom. Teachers will be able to refer for guidance to the school Health and Safety policy, national guidelines and information given by Redcar and Cleveland Borough Council.
