Dear Parents,

Welcome to this week's news! We are a very proud staff. Your children's classroom data has been gathered and analysed, they are doing very well AND they have all shone in their performances. They love to perform and have done so very, very well.

I, in turn am also incredibly proud of our fantastic staff, we are so lucky to have such a dedicated and talented team at Skelton.

Christmas Craft Fayre

A huge thank you to everyone who attended our Christmas Craft Fayre on the 1st December. Through your generosity and donations, we raised a fantastic total of £1577.37! This funding will go towards vital learning resources and trips for our children. We could not have achieved this without your help, thank you!

FACEBOOK

At our Autumn governors meeting this week, we discussed the joys and perils of Facebook and unanimously decided that we will not be utilizing a Facebook page to communicate with parents. We will continue to use text and email alerts and letters as appropriate.

! Behaviour !

We have received a number of reports this week about anti-social behaviour in the industrial estate and in and around McDonalds, Greggs and Asda around 6pm. Are your children out in the evenings? Please ensure that you know where they are and that they are safe.

Unfortunately, no classes achieved 100% this week

Whole school attendance 95%

Last week, our Year 6 Librarians had a very special trip to the Seven Stories Museum in Newcastle. The museum was started in 2005 and is a celebration all of children's literature. Given the hard work of our librarians and their dedication to books, we thought it was the perfect choice to inspire and enthral us. During our visit, the children were captivated by the comic themed exhibition, enchanted by the famous bears we know and love and in fits of laughter as they tried on giant underpants! Tiffany loved her experience and shared that 'It was wonderful. The rooms all made you want to read books and share stories'. Elliott, or should we say 'Harry' thought 'The costumes really brought the story to life and let you be the characters'. We have many ideas to bring back to our own library so watch this space...
